

Thank you for naming Red Lion the
#1 panel meter provider.

For 14 years and counting, the readers of Control Design have named Red Lion Controls the top provider of panel meters in the industry.

While it is always an honor to receive an award, this one is extra special because it was selected by you - our customers, partners and friends.

Jesse Benefiel, vice president of product management, sums up how we feel:
"Being consistently recognized by the readership of Control Design underscores our commitment to offering the most reliable panel meters in the industry."

Thank you to everyone who voted. For additional information on our panel meters, visit www.redlion.net/panelselection to find the right meter for your application.
